Making a Difference Together

Greetings,

Family & Children's Center serves individuals of all walks of life. Just as our clients are so different from one another, so are our programs. Our vast programming allows us to address an assortment of adversities. We are able to help a person coping with a mental illness become more independent, a child in an unsafe situation feel comforted and thrive, give a family struggling a helping hand and create a plan for their future, and so many others in difficult situations. I am proud of the continuum of services we provide, proud of the impact we make with our clients, and proud of the difference we make within our community.

Our work could not be done without the support of our community. Because of your support we are able to address the various issues that are affecting our fellow community members. The generosity that we have seen from our donors, volunteers, and other advocates has changed lives. With the help from all of you, we have been able to create better tomorrows for our clients.

We will never stop striving for safer, healthier lives in our community. As long as we have those who believe in our cause and continue to support us, we will continue to help as many people as we can.

Thank you for helping Family & Children's Center continually provide better tomorrows to all that receive our help. Together, we are making a difference.

With gratitude,

Tita C. Yutuc, LCSW, LICSW

Our Board of Directors

The community volunteers who serve on Family & Children's Center's Board of Directors are our most committed ambassadors and advocates. They share their time, talent, and treasure to ensure the center's success in every area: strategy, programs, personnel, and finances.

Board Spotlight - Margie Webster

Margie Webster resides in her hometown, La Crosse, Wisconsin and works in General Internal Medicine at Gundersen Health System. In addition to serving on the FCC board, Margie is on the Central Alumni Association board and volunteers for the Coulee Region Humane Society, Mobile Meals delivery, and as a community investment panel member for the Great Rivers United Way.

Webster grew up in La Crosse with the dream of helping people. After graduating from La Crosse Central High School, Margie became a doctor to make that dream a reality. In 1992, Margie completed medical school and residency training at Northwestern University in Chicago and moved back home to put her skills to work. Webster's passion for a healthy community makes her honored to serve on the FCC board.

Why do you believe in the mission of FCC?

Families and individuals in our community are facing more and more issues that affect their quality of life. FCC works to identify the root causes of these issues and helps them move towards reaching their fullest potential. After all, the health and well-being of our community depends on the health and well-being of each individual.

What is one thing you want everyone to know about FCC?

FCC is able to do the hands on work to make a difference in the lives of many community members. Knowledge, experience and passion for helping is at the core of the staff working at FCC.

Why should people consider a gift to FCC?

Family & Children's Center has a proven record of meaningful impact in the lives of our community members. Support of our communities is more important than ever right now and donors can rest-assured knowing their gift will be invested in proven programs, with proven outcomes.

What have you learned from serving on FCC's Board of Directors?

The need is great, and at times seems overwhelming, but FCC's focus on prevention and early intervention makes a crucial impact on the health of our community members today, and many years in the future.

Finding Her Support System

Finding a balance in high school can be tricky for anyone. As a freshman, Nicole suffered from depression, spent time with an unsafe crowd, and and struggled with issues of self-worth. She desperately wanted to feel connected. She found herself wanting the attention of a much older man. What followed was that Nicole found herself being used, and became a victim to a predator.

Eventually, she found herself in the doctor's office taking a pregnancy test. The fear and disappointment that she felt was indescribable. Questions raced through her head. How would she tell her parents? How could she become a mother? Was her entire future put on hold? To Nicole's relief, her parents were understanding and supported her decision to have the baby. However, there was still plenty on her mind that heavily concerned her.

Traditional high school is not ideal for someone who is pregnant. From the smallest things like sitting in the back of the classroom attempting to see the board due to no longer being able to fit into a desk, to the major things like how was she going to balance schoolwork and being a mother, it was an overwhelming experience.

Nicole found herself quickly drifting away from lifelong friends. They no longer shared the same priorities or interests. Her friends were shopping for video games, prom dresses, and phones while Nicole was purchasing diapers, onesies, and other supplies to prepare for her new baby. Nicole's focus on becoming a mom propelled her to push herself to build a better life for both herself and daughter. She knew she could not do it alone. It takes a village of people one can turn to for help, questions, and support. Her family and Family & Children's Center were able to fill that need.

Family & Children's Center was able to offer two levels of support. First, a former program, Hope Academy, helped her graduate alongside those in a similar position. Second, Healthy Families helped her set and meet goals for parenting that focused on her child's development and well-being as well as her own personal goals.

Early on in her daughter's life, Nicole found herself craving another unhealthy relationship. She found her self-esteem lowering and slipping back down a dark path. She felt like a failure. However, Family & Children's Center continued to give her support and remind her of her self-worth, and Nicole was able to leave the relationship. Healthy Families helped her define what a healthy relationship looked like. They helped her realize that she not only deserved a better relationship for herself, but for her daughter. Nicole remembered her self-worth and decided she was not going to put her goals on the back burner any longer because her daughter deserved nothing but the best. Parenting became Nicole's top priority.

Healthy Families gave Nicole the tools she needed to balance being a mother along with other life demands. They helped her understand she was on the right track in her parenting. Being in Healthy Families built her confidence because she was able to see that her daughter was meeting her developmental milestones. Watching these milestones gave Nicole joy: rolling over, picking up cheerios, walking, talking, and saying "mama" for the first time.

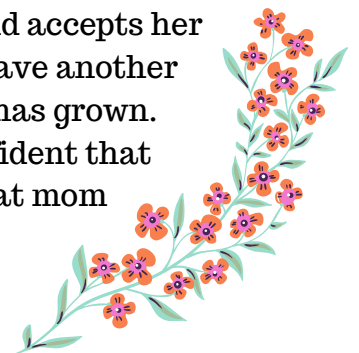

As Nicole transitioned from high school to college, she faced the daunting prospect of rebuilding her village. At first it was overwhelming because she felt alone again not knowing anyone. But she was reminded of her grandma's mantra, "choose quality over quantity". That belief stuck with Nicole, as she would rather have five friends who cared for her and her child than 50 people who truly weren't invested. With that advice, she found a handful of truly supportive friends and built her village.

College brought her a new sense of independence. Nicole started working part time and planning for her future. The best part of her day was coming home to a goofy two-year-old. It made her happy to see her daughter playing with a new toy. She was proud that due to her hard work she was able to support and even treat her daughter. It gave her confidence to know she earned everything they had.

Nicole felt pride in her success as a parent, her academic achievements, and her understanding of what a healthy relationship looks like. For five years Nicole's Healthy Families case manager was there for every accomplishment, every low point, and all the moments in between.

Now, Nicole has a family of her own. She is filled with gratitude that she found a partner in her husband David that loves and accepts her daughter as his own. They have another child together; their village has grown. Nicole continues to feel confident that she has the skills to be a great mom and always remembers, "quality over quantity."

PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

Treatment Foster Care

Every day more and more children find themselves in the foster care system through no fault of their own. Removal from the home happens for a variety of reasons, but ultimately due to situations when it is determined to be in the best interest and safety of the child. When possible, the goal is for reunification of the family. However, no matter the end goal, being removed from one's home as a child is scary and stressful. Family & Children's Center's Treatment Foster Care team works with those children to help provide the support, care, safety and security they need.

Our Treatment Foster Care team works with children who require additional help due to physical, behavioral, or emotional disorders. These children may have an even harder time handling this major change in their life. Treatment Foster Care works with the foster parents and provides training to help them be equipped for the possible challenges they may face. This program utilizes a trauma informed care model, meaning they assume an individual is more likely than not to have a history of trauma, they recognize trauma symptoms, and they acknowledge the role trauma may play in the individual's life.

Treatment Foster Care uses a multi-disciplinary team approach, including in-house social workers, therapists, and a clinical supervisor. Treatment Foster Care's social workers provide intensive, specialized support, and advocacy for each family and child in placement. With this approach, everyone, including the children and the families, are receiving the proper support. An on-call social worker is also available 24/7 for any emergencies with Treatment Foster Care youth or for referrals for respite services.

Home visits to each treatment foster home occur monthly, while telephone contact occurs weekly, ensuring that everything and everyone is safe and supported. Services are provided for additional help including co-parenting and mentoring between Treatment Foster Care parents and birth or adoptive parents. Therapy is also provided for individuals and families, while independent living skills training is provided to young adults.

Nationally, around 23,000 kids age out of foster care every year. When children age out of foster care, they no longer have a permanent residence, often resulting in homelessness. This is why Family & Children's Center creates an independent living plan with young adults living in foster care and connects them with resources for beyond their time in Treatment Foster Care. Family & Children's Center understands that foster care is a major life transition that can be challenging for both the child and parents, so the program offers the resources and support to ensure everyone involved can be successful.

WE CAN ALL TAKE A STAND AGAINST CHILD ABUSE IN OUR COMMUNITY

It shouldn't happen here... but it does.

*1 in 10 children will be abused before the age 18.
Many will suffer lifelong consequences.
All of them forever changed.*

These companies have had enough. They partnered with Family & Children's Center in 2019 to be a True Blue Partner by sponsoring programs that give children better tomorrows.

We are most grateful for their support. We hope that you are too.

Change Lives For Good

"Family & Children's Center saved my life."

Help Family & Children's Center
Open Doors to Better Tomorrows for Children, Families, and Generations to Come.

A gift to Family & Children's Center, is quite literally the gift of a lifetime. When you give to Family & Children's Center, you break cycles of poverty and abuse. You give babies and children a healthy start in life, help families find stability, and make communities safer.

Planned giving provides a way for you to support that work, while also improving your own financial and tax situation today. It's a way for you to partner your financial goals with your personal values to create lasting change and a personal legacy.

We gratefully accept:

- Bequests in wills
- Charitable lead trusts
- Charitable remainder trusts
- Retained life estate
- Life insurance
- Retirement assets

To learn more about how you can give the gift of a lifetime, contact Family & Children's Center at 608-668-2235 or jkorn@fccnetwork.org

Upcoming Events

This is typically where we show Family & Children's Center's upcoming events. In following with proper health and safety protocol, we've had to cancel all our major events this year. These cancellations resulted in a major deficit of our fundraising efforts. We rely heavily on our events to fund our mental health & sobriety, victims of abuse, and child abuse prevention programs. Please, support Family & Children's Center with the same generous spirit you have always given!

Below are two events that will look a lot different this year, visit fcconline.org to learn more.

12th Annual Lube-A-Thon

September 9th-30th

Get an oil change at Dahl in La Crosse, Onalaska, or Winona and support child abuse prevention!

A Spin on Monte Carlo

November 7th

Keep the spirit of Monte Carlo alive by hosting a game night with a great meal. Purchase a raffle ticket and tune in to our Facebook live drawing at 7:00!
